

Avyakt BapDada 25th May 1973

Do you consider yourselves to be world transformers and world benefactors? Whilst considering yourselves to be the ones who give the message to every soul of the world, do you ever calculate to what extent you have been able to give the message to the world? Are you making new plans for the places where you still have to carry out the task of giving the message? One always thinks of plans for one's own duty and responsibility.

Wherever you put the plans for giving the message - or for spreading the sound of the Father's introduction - into a practical form.. the main effort you make is that - in whichever land or whichever place you have to give the message - you first create a stage. Then, you prepare your speech, and you also adopt various publicising the programme, through which you carry out the task of giving the message to the souls of that place.

However, up to now, you have only been able to give the message to a few souls of the world with this method. You now have to give the message to the whole world in a short time: you have to introduce them to gyan (knowledge) and yoga. You have to carry out the task of giving them the recognition of the Father; and, together with that, you also have to purify matter. Only then will world transformation take place.

What future plans have you made in order to carry out this great task in a short time? Does the blueprint of those plans enter your intellects? Is it the same form as that which you are doing now, or is it something different? Do you see in advance what that form is? Or, will you see it as you move along? If it is clear, then tell Baba in two words.

Since the time is short, you also need to have short plans. They should be short but powerful. What are those two words? The future plans are to take practical shape on the basis of just two words. You have been told these two words before. One is to be an image (sakshat) of the Father practically and visibly; and, secondly, to be a detached observer (saalthi), and an image that grants visions. Unless you become these two images, you will not be able to transform the whole world in a short time.

Just as you prepare your speech and the physical stage, in the same way - in order to put these plans into a practical form - you also have to prepare your internal stage.

Just as you prepare the stage whilst thinking of a variety of points.. in the same way - in order to grant a vision of the future through your features - you have to grant a vision of the divine activities(charitra) of the Father, his acts, and his virtues, through the main senses on your face. You have to prepare these various points. You should be able to take someone beyond with a glance through the eyes. That is, though your vision, you should be able to transform the vision, attitude, consciousness and actions of others.

Give everyone a clear vision of your own form, and their own forms. With a spiritual smile on your lips, give the experience of imperishable happiness. Through your whole face, grant them a vision of the present elevated position and the future position. With your elevated thoughts, draw away that flood of wasteful and sinful thoughts of other souls: draw them away through your power, in a short time. Transform the wasteful thoughts into powerful thoughts.

Through one term, give desperate souls the experience of reaching their goal and the destination of their journey. What is that one term? Simply by saying "Shiv Baba", they should be able to find their goal and destination. Through your every deed - that is, your every divine activity.. A divine activity is not just of the Father, but the elevated deeds of every elevated soul are divine activities, whilst ordinary deeds are not called divine activities. So, through the divine activity of every elevated deed, reveal the image of the Father.

Now, only when you give such a practical spiritual speech will you be able to transform the world in a short time. For this, you also need a stage. What main equipment do you use for the preparation of a stage? You know this, do you not? This is the special sign of all of you. You make the whole stage white: this is the main sign or symbol of all of you. Your uniform is very well known. Whatever is the internal stage of the soul, you present that form on the external stage. You try to put all of these things on a physical stage: if you do not have the awareness of even one of these things - or if it is not the accurate form - then the sparkle of the stage does not seem so good.

In the same way, when you have to give a practical speech through your stage, them for this too you have to prepare all of these things. You need to have light - that is, you have to be in the stage of being double-light. You know this, do you not? There has to be both forms of light. If someone on the stage is not light, but is very heavy in sitting down and getting up, then - instead of listening to the speech - people will be distracted looking at that person. So, here too, you need a double-light stage.

The mike should be so powerful that the sound reaches very far, very clearly. So, there should be might in the mike. The moment you have one thought and give one glance, then that one thought and one glance should carry out the task of a lighthouse. Even whilst you are in one place, many souls should be influenced by your one thought and one divine look. You have to create such a powerful mike. So, what is the mike? Thought and drishti - divine and spiritual vision.

In the same way, there has to be whiteness, that is, a clean intellect that doesn't have the slightest stain on it. If there is a stain on the stage - if there isn't that whiteness - then everyone's attention will be drawn to that stain, against their conscious wish.

Then, there also has to be the decoration of the slogans. What slogans should be used as decorations for the internal stage? The internal stage, and then the speech of practical thoughts, words, and deeds: what slogans do you need for such a stage?

Firstly, "I, the soul, am a instrument of the Almighty Authority Father, for the elevated task of world benefit". This slogan should be in your consciousness. If you are not able to remember the slogan of this stage, the stage will not then seem beautiful. The slogans are of special inculcation.

The second slogan is: "I, the soul am a great donor, and a bestower of blessings". Give a blessing to those souls who do not have the courage to give or receive donations, through the blessings that you have received from the Father - the Bestower of Blessings - and with the co-operation of your own stage. So, the slogan is to be a great donor, and a bestower of blessings. This is the clarification.

Thirdly, "I, the soul - through my divine activities, words, and thoughts - have to grant all souls a vision of the image and character of BapDada". In this way, also keep in your awareness the slogans that are used to make the stage beautiful. Prepare such a stage, and sit on a chair on the stage - that is, sit on the chair of your original status.

So, the stage, speech, and status, are all necessary. Then, you will be able to transform the world in a short time. You know how to do this, do you not? However, you must also make sure that the stage is so very strong, unshakeable, and stable, that no storm - nor any kind of atmosphere - will be able to shake it. Make such preparations for yourself. Do you have this practice? Are you ever-ready and ever-happy to the extent that you are able to prepare your stage in one second, and to give a practical speech according to the stage, place, and land, of the souls? Do you understand? This is the future plan.

To the elevated souls who constantly grant a vision of the perfect stage and the true real status, through their own stage and status.. to the world benefactor souls: BapDada's love, remembrance, and namaste.
